Professor, Dept. of Information Security and Communication Technology, Norwegian University of Science and Technology, Gjøvik, Norway (2015 –)

3.2 Previous Positions

After completing my undergraduate studies, I was admitted as a graduate student to the Dept. of Electrical & Computer Engineering of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, USA. I was also employed by the University initially as a Teaching Assistant in the Department of Electrical & Computer Engineering (September 1982- August 1983), later as a Research Assistant (March 1983 – May 1983) and then as Teaching Associate in both the Department of Electrical & Computer Engineering and the Department of Mathematics and Statistics (September 1983- February 1984), until the completion of my MSc degree in February 1984. I then returned to Greece and started my doctoral stydy at the University of Patras. I was also employed as an adjunct professor with the National Merchant Marine Academy in Athens (February – September 1984) and as an adjunct associate professor with the School of Technology Applications, Technological Education Institute of Patras (October 1984 - February 1987). Following the completion of my Ph.D., I moved back to Athens and served my military service with the Research Center of the Hellenic Navy (June 1987 - June 1988), while maintaining a post-doctoral researcher affiliation with the Computer Technology Institute in Patras (1988-1990). After completing my military service, I was employed by the Department of Informatics of the Technological Education Institute of Athens, initially as an adjunct associate professor (September 1988 - April 1989), then as tenured assistant professor (April 1989 – April 1991) and finally as (tenured) associate professor (April 1991 - October 1993). Between 1988 - 1990 I worked as Instructor at the Department of Computer Science, University of La Verne Athens Campus. In March 1990 I started working at the University of the Aegean, initially as adjunct assistant professor of the Department of Mathematics (March 1990 – June 1994), then as (tenured) associate professor of the Department of Mathematics (June 1994 – March 1998), professor of the Department of Mathematics (March 1998 – December 1999), and finally professor of the Department of Information and Communication Systems Engineering (December 1999- May 2007). During 1995-1997 I was also an adjunct professor with the Graduate Programme, Department of Informatics, Athens University of Economics & Business. During the time I spent with the University of the Aegean, apart from the usual academic duties, I was elected to serve as Vice-Rector of Finances & Development for two terms (March 1997 – September 2003) and as the Rector (September 2003 – September 2006). When my term as Rector finished, I was nominated by the Greek Rectors' Conference as one of the Members of the Board of the newly founded Hellenic Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education; I remained in this position in parallel with my part-time academic duties until June 2008. In September 2006 I also took sabbatical leave to the University of Piraeus, Department of Digital Systems. In May 2007 I was invited[1] to move to the Department of Digital Systems of the University of Piraeus, as a professor. In June 2008 I was appointed by the Greek Parliament as a Member of the Board of the Hellenic Authority for Network and Information Security and Privacy (June 2008 - November 2009), retaining my full-time appointment with the University of Piraeus. In November 2009 I was appointed Secretary General for Telecommunications and Post of the Ministry of Infrastructures, Transport and Networks of the Hellenic Republic, remaining in that position partly in parallel with my academic duties until July 2012, when I resigned and returned full-time to academia. On October 1, 2015, I was appointed Professor with the Center for Cyber and Information Security, Norwegian University of Science and Technology (NTNU), Norway. In the academic years 2015-2016 and 2016-2017 I was adjunct professor of the International Hellenic University, Thessaloniki, Greece. On February 1, 2018, I was appointed Professor with the Faculty of Pure and Applied Sciences and Rector of the Open University of Cyprus, Nicosia, Cyprus and went on long term leave from my position at the University of Piraeus. In July 2020 I retired from my position at the University of Piraeus. I resigned from the Open University of Cyprus on September 30, 2020, to take up the role of the Director of the Norwegian Center for Cybersecurity in Critical Sectors, NTNU, Norway on October 1, 2020. In 2021 I was inaugurated as Professor Emeritus of the Department of Digital Systems at the University of Piraeus. In May 2023 and until June 2023 I was appointed Minister of Digital Governance in the interim (caretaking) government of the Hellenic Republic.

4. TEACHING ACTIVITIES

4.1 Courses

The first time I was assigned teaching duties was in September 1982, as a teaching assistant with the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering, University of Massachusetts at Amherst. In the four decades since, I have designed and taught a large number of undergraduate and graduate[2] courses, shown in Appendix I. Many of these courses are supported by textbooks which I have authored/co-authored/edited; these textbooks are also being used as courseware of several similar courses in other Greek Universities. In the periods 1997-2007; 2009-2012; and 2018-2020 I was relieved of my course teaching assignments, being Vice-Rector and then Rector of the University of the Aegean; General Secretary of Telecommunications and Post of the Hellenic Republic; and Rector of the Open University of Cyprus respectively.

4.2 Short Courses

In 1997 I proposed and led the establishment of an "Inter-University Co-operation Programme (ICP)", funded by the European Commission SOCRATES programme; one of the activities within the project was the design and implementation of an intensive programme of study in information and communication systems security. The programme, named "Intensive Programme on Information and Communication Security (IPICS)" was designed as a two-week intensive course, aiming at early MSc level students. The course was initially delivered in 1998 and has since being carried out annually, in summer, by teaching staff of the participating institutions; it carries four European Credit Transfer System (ECTS) credits. Institutions that have taken part in implementing the course over the years include: University of the Aegean (GR), University of Thessaloniki (GR), University of Piraeus (GR), University of Patras (GR), Athens University of Economics & Business (GR), University of Athens (GR), Aston University (UK),

4.3 Curricula Design

In 1995 I led the design of a "model" graduate MSc curriculum in Information Security, Dependability and Safety, within the framework of an EU-funded ERASMUS project. In 1997 I led the design of the undergraduate curriculum of the Department of Information and Communication Systems Engineering of the University of the Aegean. I also led the design of the graduate MSc curriculum in Information and Communication Systems Security of the same department. In 2008 I led the design of the graduate MSc curriculum in Digital Systems Security of the Department of Digital Systems of the University of Piraeus.

5. RESEARCH ACTIVITIES

5.1 Research Interests

My areas of specialization and my technical and research interest lie within the fields of Information and Communication Systems Security; Adaptive Estimation and Control Theory Applications; Applications of evolutionary computing – Genetic Algorithms.

5.2 Research Contributions

I have been an active researcher in my fields of interest continuously since 1984, when I started working towards my PhD. Initially (1984-1990), my research focused exclusively on applied estimation theory and adaptive control, and in particular the extension and application of the multimodel partitioning approach to estimation and control of Lainiotis to several problem areas, including geophysical signal processing; deconvolution; computational analysis and parallel implementations of algorithms; autoregressive model identification. In 1989 I engaged in a research project on the security of information systems in Greek hospitals and started publishing in the security domain in 1990; this has been my primary field of research interest since. In this field, my research contribution extends to cyber security of critical infrastructures; cyber security of cyber physical systems; security in medical information systems; intrusion detection systems; neural network applications to computer and network security; network security; public key infrastructure; e-commerce security; security and privacy economics; e-voting systems; disaster recovery. However, applied estimation theory has also remained a research field of central interest to me; within this field I have contributed research results on radar signal processing; sonar signal processing; Riccati equations solutions; electricity demand load forecasting. In 1992 I started working with genetic algorithms, initially towards their application in automated software testing, later towards their application for active noise control actuator positioning in aircraft and then towards designing variable structure multiple model estimators.

My research activity over the past 41 years has resulted in the publication of 66 books; 49 book chapters; 129 journal publications (of which 9 invited); and 180 publications in conference proceedings (of which 31 invited). A complete list of my publications can be found in Appendix IV. According to Google Scholar, my research work has been cited 8.709 times, and my h-index is 46 (July 2026). Since 2023 I am listed in the Stanford University annual list of the top 2% of most cited scientists worldwide. 8.3 Standardization

I was member of the team that prepared, under contract, the CEN ENV 12924:1997 "Medical Informatics – Security categorization and protection in healthcare information systems" international standard.

9. LEADERSHIP & MANAGEMENT

9.1 Academic

In March 1997 I was elected[5] Vice-Rector for Finances and Development of the University of the Aegean, Greece. I was re-elected in the position in May 2000. In this capacity, I was responsible for all matters pertaining to the formulation, monitoring and execution of the budget of the University and to its strategic development. The University of the Aegean in 1997 comprised seven academic departments, offering undergraduate programmes of study and doctoral studies; in 2000 the University comprised seventeen departments, offering undergraduate, graduate (MSc) and doctoral studies.

In May 2003 I was elected Rector of the University of the Aegean. In the Greek –and European- University system, the Rector is both the institutional leader and manager at the same time. In 2005, the University of the Aegean was evaluated within the Institutional Evaluation Programme of the European University Association[6]; the result of this evaluation, which includes the institutional leadership and management can be found at https://www.aegean.gr/sites/default/files/attach/16/10/eua_institutional_evaluation_report_website.pdf. The pertinent extract of the report can be found in Appendix XI.

During my terms as Vice-Rector and Rector of the University of the Aegean, Greek Universities had access to European funds administered through the Ministry of Education; these funds aimed at developing and enhancing the tertiary education in Greece. The University of the Aegean showed excellent performance in attracting and managing such funds that were administered in the form of large grants approved through a strictly competitive process within the Operational Programme for Education and Initial Professional Training (EPEAEK). Among these projects, I was personally involved in the preparation of and managed those shown in Appendix XII.[7] The budget of all these projects exceeds 10.000.000 €.

In 2000 I was appointed as one of the three members of the then founded Finances Committee of the Greek Rectors' Conference, a capacity that I retained until 2006. The Committee had responsibility for liaising between the Conference and the government on all matters pertaining to the finances of all Universities, including the strategic planning of the national and European funds made available to Universities.

I have also served in other academic management capacities: Founder and Director, MSc Programme in "Techno-economic management and security of digital systems", Dept. of Digital Systems, University of Piraeus (2009); Acting Head, Dept. of Statistics and Actuarial-Financial Mathematics, University of the Aegean (2003-2006); Founder and Head, Dept. of Information and Communication Systems Engineering, University of the Aegean (1997-1998) and (2000); Associate Head, Dept. of Information and Communication Systems Engineering, University of the Aegean (1998-2000); Acting Head, Dept. of Geography, University of the Aegean (1997-1999); Associate Head, Dept. of Mathematics, University of the Aegean (1997); Head, Division of Analysis, Dept. of Informatics, TEI of Athens (1990-1991).

In December 2017, following an international call, I was offered the position of Professor and Rector of the Open University of Cyprus, Nicosia, Cyprus. I took up the post on February 1, 2018, and resigned on 30 September 2020 to take up the post of Director, Norwegian Center for Cybersecurity in Critical Sectors (NORCICS).

In May 2024 I was elected Member of the Board of the University of Patras, Greece.

9.2 Research

At the national level, during 1997-2003, while being Vice-Rector for Finances and Development, University of the Aegean, I was ex-officio serving as the Chairman of the University Research Committee. The Committee has full responsibility and authority in Greek Universities on all matters pertaining to research, from research strategy formulation to monitoring progress against research plans, to administering research contracts, to formulating, monitoring and executing the research budget etc.

[5] Until 2011, the Rector and the two Vice-Rectors of each Greek University were elected by an electoral body comprising all the faculty members of the University, student representatives and representatives of the administrative personnel.

In 1998 I founded the Research Laboratory on Information and Communication Systems Security (InfoSec Lab)[8], within the Department of Information and Communication Systems Engineering, University of the Aegean, which I directed until 2005. The Laboratory was the first and is still the largest academic research unit on Information and Communication Systems Security in Greece. In 2008 I founded the Systems Security Laboratory (SSL)[9] within the Department of Digital Systems of the University of Piraeus, which is now the second largest academic research unit on Information and Communication Systems Security in Greece.

At the international level, in 2004 I was appointed by the Secretary General of Research and Technology as one of Greece's national experts on horizontal issues pertaining to the whole 1st special programme and to special activities within the 6th Framework Programme on R&D of the European Union; this position I retained until the end of FP6 in 2007. In 2007 I was appointed, again by the Secretary General of Research and Technology as Greece's national representative to the management committee of the "People" Programme[10], within the 7th Framework Programme on R&D of the European Union. In 2016 I was invited to become a member of the 8-member International Scientific Council of the newly founded Institute of Cyber Intelligence Systems of the National Research Nuclear University MePhI (Moscow Engineering Physics Institute), Russia. In 2018 I was invited to become a member of the Scientific Council of the Institute for Privacy Law, Data Protection and Technology of the European Public Law Organization (https://www1.eplo.int/ipl). In 2022 I was invited to join the Board of International Experts of the International Center for AI and Cyber Security Research and Innovations at Asia University, Taiwan. In 2024 I was invited to join the Scientific Committee of the Hellenic Society of Bioethics, Greece.

I have been leading the Critical Infrastructure Security and Resilience (CISaR) Research Group of the Center of Cyber and Information Security (CCIS), hosted by the Dept. of Information Security and Communication Technology, Norwegian University of Science and Technology, Gjøvik, Norway since 2015 and I sit on the Scientific Board of CCIS since 2016. I was Acting Scientific Director of CCIS between January-March and October-December 2017.

In 2019 I led the submission of a joint academia-industry-research centers proposal for establishing a Center for Research-Based Innovation (Senter for Forskningsdrevet Innovasjon – SFI), named Norwegian Center for Cybersecurity in Critical Sectors (NORCICS). The proposal was accepted and NORCICS became officially operational on October 1, 2020. I serve as the NORCICS Director since.

9.3 Government

In September 2006, following a nomination by the Greek Rectors' Conference, I was appointed as one of the Members of the Board of the newly founded Hellenic Quality Assurance Agency for Higher Education (now Hellenic Quality Assurance and Accreditation Agency)[11]. The Agency is an independent administrative authority; its mission is to support Higher Education Institutions in implementing procedures aiming at assuring and enhancing quality; to ensure the transparency of the pertinent procedures; to foster research in related fields; and to inform the State and the HEIs on the current international developments and trends in this field. I remained in this position until June 2008, when I resigned, because I was appointed as a member of the Board of another Authority.

In June 2008 I was appointed by the Greek Parliament as a member of the Board of the Hellenic Authority for Communication Security and Privacy (ADAE)[12]. ADAE is an independent authority that has been granted self-governing independence; it has been established according to article 19 par. 2 of the Hellenic Constitution. Its mission is to ensure that the security and privacy of any form of communication, including the postal service, is maintained. I remained in this position until November 2009, when I resigned, because I took over another government post.

In November 2009, following an open contest, I was appointed jointly by the Prime Minister and the Minister of Infrastructures, Transport and Networks as the Secretary General of Communications (now Telecommunications and Post) of the Greek government. Secretaries General in the Greek government serve a liaison role between a Ministry's political leadership (Minister, Vice-Ministers, Deputy Ministers) and the administration. While in this post, where I remained until July 2012 when I resigned, because of the change in government following elections, I had responsibility and authority in all matters pertaining to the telecommunications and post in the country, including political supervision of the telecommunications and post regulatory authority; liaison -at the political level- with the European Network and Information Security Agency (ENISA)[13]; and political supervision of the Hellenic Post S.A. I was reporting directly to the Deputy Minister of Infrastructures, Transport and Networks until June 2010 and to the Minister of Infrastructures, Transport and Networks thereof. In April 2011 I was appointed as one of the five members of the Committee on Infornation and Communication Technologies of the Greek government, with responsibility and authority over all matters pertaining to ICT in the country; the committee was reporting directly to the Prime Minister.

In May 2013 I was appointed, following a hearing in the Hellenic Parliament, as the President of the National Council of Education, for a three-year term. The Council was the supreme advisory body to the Minister of Education with competence on all three levels of education, namely primary, secondary and higher education and all matters related to education. In the period June 2013-June 2014 I also served as the President of the Council for Higher University Education, which was one of the constituents of the National Council of Education, with similar competences to those of the National Council of Education, albeit focused on Higher University Education.

9.4 Professional organizations

I was elected as a member of the Board of the Greek Computer Society in 1994-1997 and as the Vice-President during 1996-1997. I was elected as Member of the Board and Vice-President of the Panhellenic Federation of Associations of University Professors for 2009. I served as a member of the Board of the Information and Communication Technologies chapter of the Technical Chamber of Greece. I was Chairman of Working Group 4 (Network Security) of Technical Committee 11 (IT Security) of IFIP in 1996-1999; and the national representative of Greece to IFIP's general assembly from 1997 until 2007. In October 2012 I was elected President of the Hellenic chapter of the Association for Information Systems for a 2-year term.

9.5 Other

During 1996-1997 I was a member of the Technical Council of the University of the Aegean. The Technical Council comprises only engineers as members and it is an Advisory Board to the University management on all matters pertaining to technical works. I chaired this council during 1997-2003. During 2003-2006, being the Rector of the University of the Aegean, I was ex-officio the Chairman of the Board of the Company for Managing and Exploiting the Property of the University of the Aegean S.A. The company acts as a manager of all the real estate property of the University.

From 2017 to 2025 I was the representative of Norway to the Steering Committee of the European Cyber Security Challenge (ECSC). In June 2023 I was elected as chair of the Executive Committee of the ECSC.

Since 2024 I am a member of the strategy council of the Network for Transformation in Greece and Europe.

10. INSTITUTIONAL AND STUDY PROGRAM EVALUATIONS

I have carried out, individually or as a member of a team, several evaluations of individual study programmes, both undergraduate and graduate, offered by Universities in Greece, Cyprus, Estonia, Lithuania, Georgia and Latvia.

I have carried out, as a member of a team, evaluations of the doctoral study programs of four Romanian Universities.

I was member of an international committee put together by the Czech Ministry of Education that evaluated the research performance of Charles University, Prague, Czech Republic, in 2020 - 2021. I chaired the committee that repeated the task in 2025.

[13] http://www.enisa.europa.eu/

At the international level, in 2006 I was invited to join the pool of expert evaluators of the Institutional Evaluation Programme of the European University Association. Membership is by invitation only and can be extended only to current or former Rectors and Vice-Rectors. In 2008 I was "promoted" to evaluation team chair and between 2011 and 2019 I was sitting on the Programme Steering Committee. I served as the Chair of the Programme's Steering Committee between 2015 and 2019. Within the EUA IEP framework I have evaluated more than 20 higher education institutions in Slovakia, Portugal, Turkey, Romania, Ireland, Montenegro, Lebanon, FYROM, the Czech Republic, and Poland. In November 2014 I trained to be an ENQA evaluator.

APPENDIX XI: Extract on leadership from the EUA IEP report on the University of the Aegean

2.6 University Leadership

The complexity of managing this university across five islands can hardly be over-stated, and the review Team left with admiration for the way in which the Rector, professor Socratis Katsikas, along with his team of Vice Rectors and Deans, is addressing the challenges. Leading this university requires considerable vision, energy, enthusiasm, as well as great management and negotiation skills. The Team's impression is that the university has the leadership it needs and deserves.

The Team had the opportunity to meet the Rector both in formal and informal contexts, and particularly welcomed the opportunity to observe some working meetings. It was apparent that the Rector has a vision for the development of the university as a socially responsive, dynamic and research-driven institution, and is keen to push the university in this direction by all means at his disposal. His management of university affairs is very open, and he sets a fine example in listening and engaging in dialogue with colleagues and with the wider community. Professor Katsikas also displays an acute awareness of the need to act in a pragmatic fashion, with a clear sense of what is possible. Priorities are defined in realistic rather than idealistic terms, and strategy is developed in a corresponding manner, recognising the limits of the physical and cultural environment.
